

Small Boats

Page 48

THE FEATURES

- 8 The West Pointer 18
From workboat roots, a solid recreational boat David D. Platt
- 12 Fiddlehead
A solo canoe for double paddle Matthew P. Murphy
- 16 Endeavour 17
A kayak for just about everybody Matthew P. Murphy
- 20 Coho 17
An elegant and able home-built kayak Chris Cunningham
- 24 The Annapolis Wherry
Quick to build, fast to row Mike O'Brien
- 28 ZEPHYR
Nostalgia with ten coats of varnish John C. Harris
- 32 The Flatfish
An inspired daysailer Joe Youcha
- 36 The Christmas Wherry
A Maine example of a traditional design Stephen Rappaport
- 40 The WindSprite 26
An easy-to-build, multichined hull for performance daysailing Tom Jackson
- 44 Blackbird
A striking outboard cruiser Dennis Caprio
- 48 The Ness Yawl
A thoroughbred's blend of ability and beauty Kathy Mansfield
- 52 The Tolman Skiff
A boat for all seasons Paul Lazarus

- 56 PETITELISA
A simple girl Jean-Yves Poirier
- 60 Skylark
A beautiful and practical daysailer Greg Rössel
- 64 The Macomber 15
A fast and heavy skiff from Westport, Massachusetts Matthew P. Murphy
- 68 Stir Ven
A good sense of balance Jean-Yves Poirier
- 72 Boothbay Harbor One-Design
A fast and wholesome racer-daysailer Maynard Bray
- 76 RASCAL
A playful runabout Dennis Caprio
- 80 The Norwalk Islands 26
Fast, shoal-draft, and self-righting Mike O'Brien
- 84 The Gloucester Light Dory
A classic design for plywood construction Tom Jackson
- 88 The Norseboat
A Cadillac of a camp-cruiser Geoff Kerr
- 92 The Ben Garveys
Simple boats for work or play Mike O'Brien
- 96 ELF
A small cruiser for going just about anywhere Tom Jackson
- 100 The Sailing Skiff 15
A simple, striking, affordable boat Mike O'Brien
- 104 The Lake Oswego Boat
A small lapstrake gem Tom Jackson

Page 24

THE AUTHORS

Maynard Bray (The Boothbay Harbor One-Design, page 72), a longtime contributor to WoodenBoat, serves as the magazine's technical editor. He has also written and contributed to several books on the topic of wooden boats; most recently, he collaborated with Tom Jackson on Worthy of the Sea: K. Aage Nielsen and His Legacy of Yacht Design (Tilbury House, Gardiner, Maine).

Dennis Caprio, (Blackbird, page 44; RASCAL, page 76), former editor of Small Boat Journal, now writes about boats for several publications.

Chris Cunningham, (Coho 17, page 20), an experienced kayaker and sailor, is the editor of Sea Kayaker magazine.

John C. Harris, (ZEPHYR, page 28) owns and operates Chesapeake Light Craft, LLC, a company specializing in boat kits. When not answering e-mail he designs and builds CLC's kit offerings and teaches classes in boatbuilding.

Tom Jackson (The WindSprite 26, page 40; The Gloucester Light Dory, page 84; ELF, page 96; The Lake Oswego Boat, page 104) is WoodenBoat's associate editor. He is also author, with Maynard Bray, of the recently published Worthy of the Sea: K. Aage Nielsen and His Legacy of Yacht Design.

Geoff Kerr (The Norseboat, page 88), a former Coast Guard officer, is proprietor of Two Daughters Boat Works in Westford, Vermont. He specializes in the construction of the Iain Oughtred-designed Caledonia Yawl, for which he wrote a how-to-build series in WoodenBoat magazine in 2005.

Paul Lazarus (The Tolman Skiff, page 52) is the editor of WoodenBoat's sister publication, Professional BoatBuilder magazine. When not immersed in his publishing duties, he can be found in his utility skiff, which he trailers from Alna, Maine.

Kathy Mansfield (The Ness Yawl, page 48), originally from Massachusetts, is a freelance writer and photographer now living in Oxfordshire, England. She is a frequent contributor to WoodenBoat.

Matthew P. Murphy (Fiddlehead, page 12; Endeavour 17, page 16; The Macomber 15, page 64) is editor of WoodenBoat magazine. He is also author of the recently published book Glass Plates & Wooden Boats: The yachting photography of Willard B. Jackson at Marblehead, 1898–1937 (Commonwealth Editions, Beverly, Massachusetts)

Page 64

Mike O'Brien (The Annapolis Wherry, page 24; The Norwalk Islands 26, page 80; The Ben Garveys, page 92; The Sailing Skiff 15, page 100) is WoodenBoat's senior editor. In his "spare" time, he writes and publishes Boat Design Quarterly. He also teaches kayaking skills at WoodenBoat School.

David D. Platt (The West Pointer 18, page 8) is editor of Working Waterfront, the monthly newspaper published by the Island Institute in Rockland, Maine. He is also a frequent contributor to WoodenBoat.

Jean-Yves Poirier (Stir Ven, page 68; PETITELISA, page 56) is a freelance marine writer working in France. He is a frequent contributor to WoodenBoat's sister publication, Professional Boatbuilder.

Stephen Rappaport (The Christmas Wherry, page 36) is a freelance writer specializing in marine topics. A regular contributor to WoodenBoat, he lives in East Blue Hill, Maine.

Greg Rössel (Skylark, page 60) is a contributing editor for WoodenBoat magazine and is a popular and long-time instructor at WoodenBoat School. He runs a boatshop in Troy, Maine, and hosts a radio program, World of Music, from the community radio station WERU in Orland, Maine.

Joe Youcha (The Flatfish, page 32) is executive director of the Alexandria (Virginia) Seaport Foundation, an organization dedicated to the building and use of wooden boats as a means to change the lives of at-risk youth. The foundation also serves the wider community.

Cover: The world of small boats is, above all, a world rich in variety. From left, a Gloucester Light Dory, a Skylark daysailer, and a Blackbird outboard cruiser share a beach and a pleasant afternoon not far from WoodenBoat.

Photograph by Benjamin Mendlowitz

