AUTHORS

Harry Bryan (WAYWARD, page 86), one of WoodenBoat's contributing editors, operates Bryan Boatbuilding in New Brunswick, where he works off the electrical grid. He wrote about the joys of low-speed, high-mileage powerboats in WB No. 170.

Dennis Caprio (Lumber Yard Skiff, page 47), formerly a senior editor with Yachting, is a freelance writer living in Connecticut.

Ben Fuller (Living with Little Boats, page 8), is curator at the Penobscot Marine Museum in Searsport, Maine—and a longtime contributor to WoodenBoat. He is also an instructor at WoodenBoat School in boats ranging from sea kayaks to Friendship sloops. His small boat collection ranges from an International Canoe to a Norwegian Åfjordsfaering.

John C. Harris (The Weekend Dinghy, page 50) is proprietor of Chesapeake Light Craft, the Annapolis, Maryland-based purveyor of wooden small-boat kits.

Rich Hilsinger (MARTHA, page 60) is director of WoodenBoat School.

Tom Jackson (The 2007 Small Reach Regatta, page 20; Skerry, page 52; and The Moosabec Reach Boat, page 78), is WoodenBoat's senior editor. He also founded the Small Reach Regatta.

Zip Kellogg (The West Branch canoe, page 98) is an avid canoeist and reference librarian who lives in Portland, Maine. He is the author of The Whole Paddlers Catalog and numerous articles and guidebooks on Maine's rivers.

Kathy Mansfield (Acorn 13, page 44), originally from Massachusetts, is a freelance writer and photographer now living in Oxfordshire, England. She is a frequent contributor to WoodenBoat.

Mike O'Brien (Night Heron, page 57; The Melonseed Skiff, page 82; and Shearwater, page 101), an experienced oarsman, sailor, and kayak instructor, is the Boat Design editor for WoodenBoat magazine. He also writes and publishes Boat Design Quarterly.

Shelly Randall (The 18' Mower Dory, page 104) is a freelance writer who lives in Port Townsend, Washington. A graduate of the Maritime Studies Program of Williams College and Mystic Seaport, she has worked as a journalist and a shipboard educator. Visit her online at <www.shellyrandall.com>.

Dan Segal (The Ipswich Bay 18, page 90) is a former managing editor for Small Boat Journal, and of The Yacht magazine.

Eric Sorensen (Nancy's China, page 40) is the boating columnist for The Seattle Times. He sails on Puget Sound and resides on the web at <www.eric-sorensen.net>.

Bill Thomas (Redwing, page 74) is a boatbuilder and cabinetmaker in southern Maine. He teaches at WoodenBoat School, and contributes regularly to WoodenBoat.
